PROGRAM INFORMATION

A college education in the visual arts at Newman University equips you with an understanding of methods and techniques while expanding your ability to visualize and imagine. The curriculum provides a broad exposure to historical perspectives, the principles of design and a diversity of media.

Using a studio approach to course study in the visual arts, art majors gain the requisite conceptual and technical skills that encompass the basis of the visual language. With the academic home for the visual arts located within the liberal arts curriculum, art majors benefit from the entire liberal arts faculty in their study of art.

Through this broad grounding, students are trained to give artistic expression to the complexity of human experience and to utilize their unique perspective to comment upon and contribute to the betterment of their communities.

Training in technique, exposure to historical perspectives and principles of design, and grounding in diverse media enables Newman visual arts students to develop the heightened sense of aesthetic awareness needed in today's art and design professions. Emphasis is placed on nurturing the individual voice as it finds its way within the techniques of the specific artistic discipline.

Curriculum

All college art majors are required to take a core set of art classes along with classes within the emphasis. The Art Program strives to weave the seven areas of emphasis together to show how the arts are interconnected. Students will be guided through the journey by professional, practicing artists who have a passion for visual communication. The program of study includes studio practices, critiques, mentoring, and internships which equip students to go forward and become leaders in their fields.
